He of course invites his opponent to meet him.

Judge Bush has been in Trigg county this week and is getting his contest in that county well in hand. Here in this county, the disaffection against him is gradually disappearing and if a full vote is cast his majority in Christian may go to 2,000.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Youthful Inmate of House of Ill Fame Takes Laudanum.

Ruby Ashby, a little girl who came from Dickson, Tenn., several weeks ago and has since been an inmate of a house of ill fame near the city, attempted to destroy her life Wednesday by taking laudanum. This was the second attempt she has made. Physicians succeeded in relieving her and she is up again. She claims to be only 13 years old. A love affair and remorse over her life of shame are the probable causes of the act.

DUFFY AT CADIZ

Has an Appointment to Speak Next Friday.

Mr. John C. Duffy, the Christian county candidate for commonwealth's attorney, will speak at Cadiz next Monday and will next week enter upon an active canvass of Trigg county. Mr. Duffy is a speaker of force and ability and possesses a fund of anecdote that makes him a most entertaining speaker. He is well qualified for the place he seeks and his nomination would be a source of strength to the ticket.

JUDGMENT AFFIRMED.

Brakeman Injured at Crofton Gets Damages.

An $8,000 damage judgment of the Logan Circuit Court in the case of the L. & N. against H. W. Gordon, was affirmed. The appellee Gordon, while in the employ of the company as a brakeman, was thrown from a car at Crofton, and sustained injuries which resulted in the amputation of one of his legs. The company appealed on the instructions.

MISS BAKER WINS.

Effective Work Done By the Friends of the Julien Belle.

Out of Over 52,000 Votes Cast She Received 25,256.

MISS TONY WARE A STRONG SECOND.

The voting contest inaugurated by the Kentuckian last fall to determine the most popular young lady in Christian county, was decided Wednesday afternoon in favor of Miss Alberta Baker, of Julien.

The interest manifested surpassed all expectations. The total vote was considerable more than $2,500, and the Kentuckian's subscription list received a boom that brought many new patrons and induced many delinquents to pay up their arrearages.

The contest began about September 1st and was to have closed

December 29th, but was postponed until March 4th. It had grown in interest from the first and closed with a degree of excitement that sidetracked political races and all other matters for the last three days.

The coupons were saved by thousands and all day Wednesday the holders were busy bringing them in and redeeming them with certified ballots. This was done in addition of the count to lighten the labor of the judges at the final count. Counting committees went over the coupons and certified to the contents of the packages and these were all taken up and destroyed and the votes all entered on one ballot. Some ballots were for 1,000 to 2,000 votes and perhaps 10,000 coupons were converted into ballots. Many subscribers who paid up, some for several years at a time, took their ballot certificates away with them and these were deposited the last day. Miss Baker had 12,000 reserve ballots which were not put in until five minutes before the vote closed. These had been gathered up by her friends in a most systematic and thorough manner. They came from all portions of the county and subscribers in distant states caught the fever and sent coupons from as far as California.

There were five official counts more of the most popular young ladies in the county were voted for.

Miss Tony Ware, who led the contest until the heavy reserve strength of Miss Baker was voted is the oldest daughter of Mr. J. D.

Ware, of this city. The votes she received were a high compliment to the recipient. Although she was handicapped by the fact that while the Kentuckian is read by practically all of the people of the county, its city circulation is not more than one-fifth of its county circulation.

As it became in the end a contest between town and country, the advantage was necessarily with the country. The 13,700 votes she received were a fitting testimonial of the high esteem in which she is held, both in the city and the country.

Other young ladies received very complimentary votes, as will be seen from the official tabulation.

Miss Essie Day, who holds third place, is a daughter of Mr. C. M.

Day, of Crofton, but is at present a schoolgirl at Pembroke. She is quite young and will some day be heard from again in future popularity contests.

The furniture won by Miss Baker is one of the handsomest suits ever brought to Hopkinsville. It is on exhibition at Pyle & Garnett's store and will be formally presented to Miss Baker after the official publication in to-day's paper.

The Kentuckian desires to tender its thanks to Judge Fowler and Mayor Henry for their valued services in deciding the contest. The editor also wishes to express his appreciation of the interest shown in the contest by his friends over the county. The number of votes cast was almost double the number expected. Up to Tuesday, it was believed that 15,000 votes would win; previous estimates having been successively raised from 7,500 and 10,000, as the interest grew.

This contest was of course confined to the ladies and there is such a demand for one in which the men can be voted for we take this opportunity to announce that we will in a short while inaugurate a contest on the same plan to give the men a chance.

The figures given herewith are the final and official returns from the contest just closed.

CAT WITH RABIES.

Two Crofton Men Were Bitten and Mad Stone Applied.

Mr. Ernest Brown, of Crofton, and Mr. Will Long, of near that place, were each bitten by a cat supposed to be afflicted with rabies.

The former was bitten on the hand and the latter on the heel.
Both young men went to Paducah and had Capt. Fowler's madstone applied to the wounds. The stone adhered to Mr. Long's heel for about sixty hours and to the wound on Mr. Brown's hand for fourteen hours.

They returned home this week and no serious results are now anticipated.

TOO MUCH WATER.

Middlesboro Flooded by a Disastrous Waterspout.

Great Volume of Water Coming Down the Cumberland River.

Heavy rains in the vicinity of Middlesboro caused an unprecedented flood in Yellow creek valley and at 2 o'clock Saturday morning the city was overflowed by a torrent of water. Every store in the business center was flooded and people were forced to flee from their homes for safety. Heavy damage was done to mining property in Mingo, Tenn., bridges, railroad tracks and houses being swept away. It is estimated that the damage in Middlesboro and Mingo will amount to $200,000. At Pineville a long boom was swept away and 50,000 staves were lost. Serious damage is reported at Barbourville, Burnside and other places along the Cumberland river.

A Woman's Words of Praise.

Neosho Falls, Kans., Nov. 13, 1911. Pepsi Syrup Co., Monticello, Ill. Dear Sirs:—For almost fifteen years I have suffered from rheumatism and last winter thought I would die, when my doctor, Dr. A. J. Lierman, of this place, advised me to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi, which I did, and two bottles of it were all that were needed, but it cured me so that I have not been troubled since. If any one should offer me $500 for the good Syrup Pepsi has done me, I would not think of taking it. No one can take your medicine without being convinced of its many wonderful cures. I recommend it to all my friends as a laxative and stomach remedy. Yours with gratitude, MRS. J. MORGAN. Sold by C. K. Wylie.

Fugitive Taylor Claims He Has Not Got His Share of Fees.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 28.—William S. Taylor, former governor of Kentucky, has entered suit against his former law partner, Reuben N. Miller, for dissolution of partnership and an accounting. Taylor alleges that since he withdrew from the firm a few months ago, Miller has collected upward of $250 in fees belonging to the firm and refuses to turn over Taylor's share, which by an agreement was to be one half. Miller formerly lived in Breckinridge county, Ky., and came to Indianapolis about the time Taylor fled to escape arrest for alleged complicity in the Goebel murder.

SICK OR ILL.

Letter Word Has Displaced the Former, Although Less Valuable.

"Shall we say that a man is very sick or that he is very ill?" asked a young man who takes much interest in the study of words, according to the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "Or shall we use both words without any sort of discrimination? Which word more nearly describes the condition? An answer to this question will settle the whole problem—a problem recently raised because of the increased tendency to give the preference to ill. Personally I am very much inclined to the word sick. Sick is the stronger word of the two. It is clearer because less involved in the entanglements which mark the evolutionary processes. Sick describes more exactly the state to which it is applied. We of course may say that a man is very ill and still be perfectly understood. Because of the popular and extensive use of the word no ambiguity attaches to the expression, 'He is a very ill man.' But isn't sick clearer, more exact and more forcible? I think so for many reasons. In the first place, sick is more restricted in its meaning.

"'Ill' has been given an extremely broad range. It synonymous relation to the other word is extensive. Bad, poor, wicked, low and other simple words are synonymous related to ill. Besides, ill is variously used as a prefix to other words, as ill-conduct, ill-bred, ill-mannered, and it has even been used as a prefix to health. Ill is preferable to sick would it not be infinitely better to speak of a man's sick health? Health as easily become sick as it becomes ill. Ill, when used as a prefix means bad—bad health, for instance, which, by the way, is worse English. Health cannot be bad. But health may sick—that is, the robust, vigorous, well balanced physical state embodied by the word health may become impaired by the setting in of the processes of decay and disintegration. Health is always good. Health means health—that is, whole, fair, sound, and so forth—and hence ill and bad, as prefixes to health, are simply grotesque, shocking and almost inconceivable. All of which would seem to sustain my idea of giving the preference to sick. To repeat what I have already said, it is clearer, less involved, more definite and more forcible in its meaning, and comes much nearer describing the state to which we are now in the habit of applying it. Still there is a growing tendency to give the preference to ill, as regrettable as the fact may seem under the circumstances."

NEWFOUNDLAND'S BEAUTIES.

It Has Caribou, Grouse, Salmon, Trout, Climate and Scenery.

I regret that so little is known of the island by the pleasure and health-seeking people of this country, for I feel sure, says Robert Bond, in the New York Independent, that if it were better known hundreds of Americans would visit it during the summer season. The summer months are perfectly delightful. There are no extremes of heat or sudden changes to cold; the air is fresh and bracing. As regards scenery, Newfoundland has been aptly termed the American Switzerland, for it abounds in beautiful lakes, rivers teem with salmon and trout, which are free to all who desire to throw the fly.

The hills and valleys of the interior hold the finest caribou and grouse shooting to be found anywhere. I speak from a knowledge that few, if any, even of my own countrymen possess, for 20 years ago, when I had more leisure than I now enjoy, I used to spend at least two months every year in traversing the interior. There were no railways in the land at that time, and journeying had to be done by canoe and on foot. With Indian guides I have been all over the island north, south, east and west—and crossed it from east to west three times, taking a different route on each occasion. The railway has destroyed much of the romance that attached to me in those days, but to the mind which loves to commune with nature from the haunts of men, who can appreciate the beautiful as displayed in mountain and torrent, forest and lake, and who can enjoy the rough and tumble of camp life, there is no fairer place to sojourn.

Saved His Pennies.

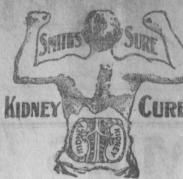

For several years J. F. Zaluzny, the Chicago baseball player, has been depositing all the pennies he received in change for his various purchases in a strong wooden box he had constructed for the purpose. The other day he turned the box and its contents over to a Minneapolis piano dealer as the final payment in payment he desired to purchase. When the coppers were counted they were found to number over 2,500.

WASTE PUT TO GOOD USE.

Choice Perfume Often Come from the Strangest Materials.

The choicest perfumes that are placed upon the market are no doubt made from oils and ethers extracted from flowers, but there are many others, says the New York Post, which are artificially made, many out of bad-smelling elements. The fuel oil obtained in the distillation of spirits has an odor that is peculiarly disagreeable, yet it is used, after treatment with proper acids and oxidizing agents, in making the oil of apples and the oil of pears; and the oil of grapes and the oil of cognac are little more than fuel oil diluted. Oil of pineapple is made by the action of putrid cheese on sugar; or by distilling rancid butter with alcohol and sulphuric acid. One of the most popular perfumes may be obtained from one of the products of gas tar, out of which is also obtained the oil of bitter almonds, so largely consumed in the manufacture of perfumed soap and confectionery.

The refuse of cities throughout the civilized world is now generally collected and disposed of for sanitary reasons, though in many instances it is utilized to good advantage for industrial purposes. The collection of this refuse has been made only within a comparatively few years, but is now carried on systematically, being more or less self-supporting and advantageous from an industrial point of view. Formerly this refuse was simply accumulated and disposed of by burning, or casting into streams or onto waste land. Now, bone, glass, rags, iron, paper, and other articles are separately collected and sold. Old tire cans are used (1) for the recovery of tin, (2) for the recovery of tin, and (3) for remelting in the manufacture of steel or iron. The waste heat from furnaces, into which the inflammable refuse is thrown, may be utilized for steam purposes in operating engines for electric lighting and power. The city of Glasgow, Scotland, obtains waste heat from such furnaces equivalent to nearly 9,000 horse-power per day for ten hours for power manufacturing purposes.

THE AMPHIBENA.

An Odd South American Bird That Protects the Ants.

Birds are usually considered among the worst foes of ants, yet, says the Detroit Free Press, there is one bird which is not only tolerated, but apparently welcomed by these insects. This is the amphibena, a native of South America. It feeds on certain larger insects which prey upon ants, and in return the ants permit the bird to build its nest in their hills and never molest even the helpless young.

In one of the Chichas islands, off the coast of New Zealand, a curious lizard, called the tuatara, and a kind of petrel are found inhabiting the same homes and living together in the most perfect amity.

The lizard is in this case the vacuator. The burrow is only two or three feet long. The petrel, however, occasionally enlarges the chamber. Each builds its nest upon opposite sides of the chamber, the lizard always invariably choosing the left side and the petrel the right.

The petrel is the caterer. It brings in worms, beetles, fish and other odds and ends, and after eating as much as it wants leaves the remains for its companion on the opposite side. This is one of the most remarkable of all animal companionships.

A similar case, and one that is very frequently quoted, is that of the North American prairie dog, which frequently shares its home with a kind of small owl. It is, however, now believed that the owl is not a particularly welcome intruder, but merely exists on suffrage in its borrowed home.

Certainly the rattlesnakes which often inhabit the same burrows are not members of a happy family. In fact they live upon their unwilling hosts. The South African meerkat is also known to share its earth with the aard-wark or ant-bear, but in this case it is not certain whether the two creatures are of any special assistance to one another.

The sea cucumber also gives a home to a peculiar class of fishes which are colorless, and quite without means of protection other than those afforded by their hosts.

Curious Adornment.

The latest craze in Paris is the wearing of a lighted lantern as a personal ornament. The fashion originated with a speculative manufacturer, whose "petites lanternes" were bought by tens of thousands at the fair at Neuilly. The lantern is very small and neat, and made in a gothic form after an ancient model.

LITTLE WOMEN.

Nature dates womanhood from the period when the womanly function is first established, so that nature's little women are school-girls, shop-girls, etc. And therein lies a danger. This period is one of the most important in a woman's life, the mental effort of study, the physical effort of labor, are doubly exhausting at this season, and coupled with need of insurance are often responsible for irregularity and other womanly ailments.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription may be relied upon to carry the woman safely through this period, as it does through maternity and the later changes of life. This great medicine establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and necrosis and cures female weak-ness.

"Two years ago my daughter's health began to fail, and she was sent to Dr. Hall of Beaufort, Green C. W. "Everything that could be thought of was done to help her, but it was of no use. What This Gentleman Says is a True Statement of Facts.

No one can have any reason for dissenting from the particular and precise which follow, for verification of the same can be readily made by every resident of this vicinity. That Doan's Kidney Pills promptly and effectually cure kidney complaints is substantiated not only in this particular case, but by all who have given them a fair trial. Testimony shows that the doctor had to take them indefinitely to be cured.

Walter McEachin, a machine hand, employed at J. Holiday & Sons planing mill, Wheeling, West Va., address 9312 Jacob street, says: "Had a number of Doan's Kidney Pills. I did not want to believe in them. I was in a terrible condition, and although I took quarts of medicine I got no better, but worse. Friends spoke of my bad appearance and thousands knew about it. I could hardly get strong enough to go to work. I had more than a living one. Doan's Kidney Pills were a blessing to me, half a box relieved me, three boxes entirely cured me and now I feel as though my back was as strong as that of any horse in Wheeling. I am a strong man, and the use of Doan's Kidney Pills than the services of all the doctors in the State."

READ IT THROUGH.

Twould Spoil This Story to Tell It in the Headlines.

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er-trail tale." Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1902, it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon, of McFia Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the mysterious properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbors told me that Dr. Chamberlain had cured her little boy and I began to trust in my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favor. The doctor who gave it to my baby told me who to buy it and I will buy it again. Write me if you will send me word I shall be happy to furnish it. Good-day, madam."

"Why, so?" she stammered, blushing.

"Because a lady with such an abundant and shapey head of hair as yours certainly has no need of a hair-dye," was the diplomatic reply.

"Dear me! How observing you men are!" she simpered. "But—um—couldn't I use it for some other purpose as a brown boot polish, for instance?"

"Certainly, madam. I forgot to mention that it makes a first-class brown polish. Price? Only two shillings, madam. Will one bottle be enough? All right; there's your change. Much obliged, madam. There is my card, and any time you need another bottle of dye—I should say brown polish—if you will send me word I shall be happy to furnish it. Good-day, madam."

BOUGHT COAL LANDS.

Fine Strata Only Forty Feet From the Surface.

W. D. Coil, of Nebo, has bought 1,384 acres of land lying on the Illinois Central Railroad, near St. Charles, from W. H. Rushton, of Evansville, Ind., for $14,000. This land is surrounded by that recently sold to the Eastern syndicate and underneath it lies a fine strata of No. 9 coal only 40 feet from the surface.

How often you hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Dr. Chamberlain's Remedy counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. It always cures and is pleasant to take. Sold by C. K. Wyley.

Killed By Street Car.

Bowling Green, Ky., March 1.—Walton Claypool, a prominent merchant, broker and stockman, was accidentally killed here this afternoon by a street car. He was on horseback and the horse became frightened at the car and threw him in front of it, and before Motorman Dan Casey could stop the car it passed over him, dismounting him and killing him instantly. Mr. Claypool was prominent in politics and one of the city's best known men.

SUCCESSFUL APPEAL.

A Peddler Who Had Had Poor Luck Alters His Tactics.

He began to feel that he was not quite a success at the peddler's business, and he thought he would have to be a little more diplomatic. His special line of goods was a new kind of hair-dye. He had begun at the door of a row of two-story brick residences, and when a lady appeared at the door of the first house in answer to his ring he had blurted out:

"Do you go in for hair-dye, madam? If so, no doubt you would be glad—"

But she wasn't, says London Tit-Bits.

The door shut with a bang and he was left on the outside with his speech unfinished.

He looked around in a bewildered sort of way for a minute, and then drifted on to the next house. Here his ring was answered by a large, healthy-looking female, who glanced slyly at the article in his hand and sharply demanded:

"Well, sir, what do you want?"

"I would like to show you a patent hair-dye," he stammered.

"Sir!"

"A new patent hair-dye. Probably you may already be troubled with a few silver streaks, madam, and—"

Again the dispenser of hair-dye was left to finish his remarks in solitude.

"I don't spring the thing on 'em in the right way exactly," he muttered to himself, as he moved on to the next house. "Shall have to try a different tack if I'm going to make a success in the business."

Then he briskly ascended the steps of the third house, rang the bell, and a few moments later, when an angular, sour-looking female confronted him with a stony glare, he glanced timidly up at her somewhat scanty, and particularly ungraceful, locks of gray, and hesitatingly began:

"Er—madam, I was about to call your attention to a patent hair-dye, which I am introducing to the public, but I see there will be no use trying to sell any to you."

"Why, so?" she stammered, blushing.

"Because a lady with such an abundant and shapey head of hair as yours certainly has no need of a hair-dye," was the diplomatic reply.

Big preparations are being made at Dawson Springs for the approaching watering season. Many new rooms have been added, the dining room has been enlarged, the Western part of the main building has been extended and the grounds have been beautified, making the place a lovely one for those who are seeking pleasure, as well as a most desirable one for the many who visit Dawson in quest of health. This is the season of the year for purifying the blood and building up the system and the Arcadia now has many visitors, who are there for the purpose of securing the benefits derived from the use of the famous Dawson waters. A large number of invalids have been there through the winter and visitors are rapidly increasing.

The management of the Arcadia has always maintained the highest order of excellence and the genial hosts, N. M. Holman & Co., and their corps of assistants always give their visitors attention most cordial. Nothing is overlooked in providing for their comfort and pleasure and extraordinary pains will be taken looking to that end with the season now approaching.

Beckham got the hot end of the newspaper discussion with Judge Breckinridge.

Harry Taody says he has no intention of withdrawing from the race for Secretary of State.The anti-machine fight is on in Newport, as elsewhere, with the Beckhamites led by John P. Newman. There is going to be a hot time in the old town before the gang succeeds in throttling the will of the people.Delaware's two new Republican Senators hurried to Washington the day after they were elected and the Senate had its full membership of 90 at the close, for the first time in four years.Suppose Judge Castrill decides that the constitution does not permit Beckham to succeed himself for two elective terms? Then what?
It is too awful to think about. And that is just about what Judge Cantrill is liable to do.Gov. Yates, of Illinois, like Lieut.
Gov. Tillman of South Carolina, got on the warpath last week and threatened to kill P. L. Hardie, a Chicago editor, who expressed the opinion that Mrs. Yates was not so much at ease in swell society as Mrs. Carter Harrison.Unable to stand the prodding of both of his opponents, Gov. Beckham has decided to let the courts pass upon his ineligibility in a test suit. It is now in order for some benchman of the machine to announce in advance what the decision will be.Judge Breckinridge makes a strong point against Beckham's eligibility when he says that if the latter's contention is correct there is nothing in the way of having his salary increased, since the constitutional inhibition is against increasing salaries during a term.
If Cripps is not serving a term, by all means let him strike for a raise.
He is too great a man to command only $6,500 a year.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease.Catarrh is a blood condition and is an internal disease. In order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall'sCatarrh Cure is not a quack medicine, but was described as the best oil salve in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh.

Boor, Glaston, Conn.Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

ON THE RUN.

A few months ago the machine was claiming the nomination of Beckham and the slate as a foregone conclusion. Today Beckham is scared out of his boots, has been forced to put his political fate in the hands of a court, a majority of whom are opposed to him, and in a week more will be making his contest entirely on the defensive.In Louisville, in Newport, in Lexington, in all his so-called strong holds, the fight is on and the machine is up against the real thing.
Louisville will either go against Beckham, or prove too close to help him much. Newport is the same way. In the first and second districts Beckham will be hard by it, on account of the unsavory record of his administration has made. The Western Asylum, supposed to be a help, is the chief source of his weakness in the counties within smelling distance. Here in Christian he is practically without influential support. His leading henchmen have practically destroyed what little influence they may have had, by waging a warfare, from suspicious motives, on a popular home man for circuit judge.In no part of the State can Beckham claim to be a popular favorite, now that the people see a chance to support a real man for Governor, they are tumbling over each other to get into line for Hendrick or Breckinridge. If the court of appeals decides that Beckham cannot serve another term, it will then be a race between two good men and the machine will find itself out of business. In the meanwhile, the current defeat of a portion of the slate is admitted and several others, including Cripps himself, are getting white around the gills.

HOW'S THIS?

The news comes from Frankfort that Gov. Beckham has appointed Judge Willis L. Reeves, of Todd county, special judge of the Christian circuit court to serve during the March term, while Judge Cook, the regular judge, is prosecuting his canvass for re-election.With all due respect for Judge Reeves, who is an able lawyer and clever gentleman, it is proper to add that it was entirely unnecessary for Gov. Beckham to send an outsider here to hold court. Thereare more than forty lawyers in the district who are abundantly qualified to discharge the duties of the office, at least temporarily. It is true that nearly all of them are against both Gov. Beckham and Judge Cook and this probably accounts for the appointment of a judge from another district. Judge Cook's friends, who of course are responsible for the slight shown the third district bar, have made a break that will cost both Beckham and Judge Cook many votes.The general panic in the ranks of the machine followers is particularly the local Beckhamites. There is fear and consternation and a feeling of uncertainty that makes some of them cuss and some of them drink. They are trying to figure out where they will be "at" when Cripps gets his quietus.

ACTIVE MARKET.

Hogshead Receipts Heavyest of Season and Some Sales on Breaks.

The tobacco market was active this week and a large quantity of the weed was sold. The loose sales on the floor by R. M. Woodbridge & Co. were very heavy Tuesday and again yesterday. Considerable good leaf made its appearance and prices on this grade ranged as high as $8.20.

Good round figures were realized on all grades disposed of. The loose receipts this week were the heaviest of the season. Much of the tobacco came from adjoining counties. It is estimated that fully one-half of the crop of 1902 has been delivered.

Sales of the weed in the hogshead were good and prices were very satisfactory all round. There were 405 hogsheads received, making a total of 3,325 hogsheads for the year.

MURDER CASE.

One Man Given Life Sentence and Another Acquitted.

Case of Two Other Defendants in Hands of Jury—May be Mistrial.

Circuit Court has been busily engaged this week in the trial of the Ware murder case. There were four of the Ware brothers and Blaine Williams, all indicted for the murder of John Tandy at a festival near Pembroke one night last summer. The parties are colored.

The killing occurred at the home of Frank Massie, col., and Tandy was shot eight times. Massie was shot once and slightly wounded and Williams was hit twice.

Dangerfield and Jeru Ware were placed on trial Monday. The jury returned a verdict of guilty Tuesday in the case of Dangerfield and his punishment was fixed at life imprisonment. Jeru was found not guilty. Fierce Ware and Blaine Williams were placed on trial Tuesday and the case was given to the jury Tuesday evening. At a late hour yesterday afternoon no verdict had been returned.

Warefield Ware is ill of fever in jail and it is not likely that he will be tried this term.

LUCIAN THOMAS,

The colored man who was shot and killed at Princeton, R. B., by Chas. Towery, was Lucian Thomas of this city. Shortly after the killing a description of the negro was received here and it fit Lucian Thomas, a feeble minded youth who had been missing from home. Thomas' mother went to Princeton and had the body disinterred this week. She positively identified the remains as those of her missing boy.

Mighty Knocking Of Knees Over The Fear Of A Squeicher For Cripps.

Frankfort, Ky., March 4.—Gov. Beckham has determined to settle the question of his eligibility as a candidate for a second term and has arranged to file test suits.

He has made a formal request of Chairman Young of the state executive committee to place his name on the ballot as a candidate for governor before the state Democratic primary.

The Grip Leaves Thousands in its Path Weak, Nervous, Dyspeptic, Catarrh Wrecks.

LIKE A DEMON grip has crossed our country, leaving behind scores of physical wrecks.

Victims of catarrh of the head, catarrh of the throat, catarrh of the lungs, catarrh of the heart, catarrh of the kidneys, catarrh of the liver, catarrh of the brain, catarrh of the skin, catarrh of the eyes, are to be counted by hundreds of thousands. Grip is epidemic catarrh, and sows the seed of chronic catarrh within the system.

This is so that few grip sufferers are able to make a complete recovery.

Never in the history of medicine has a remedy received such unqualified and universal eulogies as Peruna.

A New York Alderman's Experience. Hon. Joseph A. Flinn, alderman, Fifth District, writes from 104 Christopher street: "I am a strong advocate of Peruna as a panacea. When we take precaution as a nation to preserve the citizens against the dread disease.

"I have a grippe every winter for several weeks. But, through the use of Peruna, it got gradually weaker in its severity, until it dwindled down to a mere stupor for two or three days. Now the stupor does not trouble me any more."—O. H. Perry.

Mr. O. H. Perry, Atchison, Kansas, writes:

"One of my customers who was greatly helped by Peruna advised me to try it, and I procured a bottle the same day. I used it faithfully and felt marked improvement. During the next month I was free from grippe and grippe is still splendid. Now my head is clear, my appetite is good, I enjoy food, and rest well. Peruna has been worth a dollar a dose to me."—D. L. Wallace.

Mr. D. L. Wallace, Perry, Atchison, Kansas, writes:

"Again, after repeated trials of your medicines, Peruna and Manalin, I give this as my expression of the wonderful disease out of my system in a few days and did not hinder me from pursuing my daily work.

"I should like to see our Board of Education make Peruna a recognized remedy and use it generally among our poor sick people in Greaser New York."—Joseph A. Flinn.

D. L. Wallace, a charter member of the International Barber's Union, writes from 15 Western Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.: "I am a strong advocate of Peruna. Following a severe attack of the grippe I seemed to be affected badly all over, suffered with a severe backache, indigestion and numerous ills, so I thought I would give up my work, which I could not afford to do.

"One of my customers who was greatly helped by Peruna advised me to try it, and I procured a bottle the same day. I used it faithfully and felt marked improvement. During the next month I was free from grippe and grippe is still splendid. Now my head is clear, my appetite is good, I enjoy food, and rest well. Peruna has been worth a dollar a dose to me."—D. L. results of your very valuable medicine in its effects in my case after repeated trials.

"First, it cured me of chronic bronchitis of fifteen years' standing by using two bottles of Peruna in a month, 1500 grains a day.

"After I was cured of bronchitis I had a grippe every winter for several winters. But, through the use of Peruna, it got gradually weaker in its severity, until it dwindled down to a mere stupor for two or three days. Now the stupor does not trouble me any more."—O. H. Perry.

A Congressman's Experience. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen—"I am more satisfied with Peruna and find it to be an excellent remedy for grippe and grippe is still the most common disease in the country. I have used it in my family and they all join me in recommending it as an excellent remedy."

Very respectfully,

George H. White, If you do not receive my sample, satisfy yourself from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Coasting and Sledding, Are They Pleasures of the Past? ☺

MARSHALL FIELD, JR., dearer to us now to represent "O" on his millionaire friends. Perhaps it was a yearning for the sport of the old days on the New England coast that prompted the author of many charming lad and ladies that helped to dispel the gloom of the short winter days, that prompted this young man recently to gather together some of his society friends and bundled up in the overalls and Canadian toboggans uniforms they made merry on a public toboggan slide.

Debutantes, whose names are in the select list of society, and business men who some day will be the guiding genius of great commercial houses, dragged toboggans along with school girls, stenographers, clerks, etc.

a bucking broncho. A more stable and comfortable sled was made by fastening two or three staves side by side, but these were not considered as fast travelers as the single staves.

"The jumper was at its best, or one might say at its worst, when riding along, and bringing him back into an apple tree, or a snow jumper, which is likely on to the huckleberry bushes. Nothing in the list of coasting contrivances can equal the jumper for daredevil, exhilarating sport."

"The first rationalized sled, made of sleds, was a sled called sleigh in New York and vicinity. This production was like the modern "elip-

"CLEOPATRA'S BARGE" BUILT IN 1845

and there was "no arrogance of wealth." The party was strictly incognito and this is the first time that any one has ever seen it. Yet, I have it from a close friend of one of the young millionaires that "no country boy ever had so much fun on his coasting hill than this impromptu party in a city park had that bright night."

Is coasting a neglected winter glory? Perhaps in the big cities it is, but who shall say that when the snow is favorable in the hilly country districts, the small boy does not derive as much fun from the sport as he did years ago in New England? Not more than 40 years ago the public coastes were common in the big cities. Recently, when I was in Boston, strolling along the big elms that are slowly but surely dying, the size of the public coasting sleds from the days of the Revolution down across the historic park for $4,500 feet was pointed out to me. I imagine a lot of youngsters coasting there now!

The practical, erudite and provincial Hubrite, if asked to provide coasting advice to young people, would say something about "underground" conditions. Not longer than 14 years ago the small boys of the city of Milwaukee took advantage of the hilly nature of the city to coast on the public streets. Once when a long line of sleds, each sled being drawn down Marshall street and meeting at the wagon dashed beneath the wagon safety, although spectators had closed their eyes to the imminent slaughter of all the children, the city fathers were appealed to and the police commissioners made it hard for boy to get much coasting now on the streets.

James J. Steele, who used to revel in the sport of coasting "in the good old days" has contributed some "led holes" to Outing, which H. S. Watson has kindly illustrated. He tells of the days in Boston when the police insured fair play for the coasters and wooden bridges were temporarily built over the snow so that the coasters could not be swept off their feet by the coasters. The sleds were made of barrel staves, "skipper" and "jumper" made of barrel staves. "Skipper" were made of a single barrel stave," says Mr. Steele, "and were moderately high, which was nailed a 15-inch seat post about midships. A piece of barrel head constituted the seat. To navigate the craft required no little skill, the revolutions and convolutions performed by the rider who "grinns" the "deformed" seat, being akin to the antics of a tenderfoot on the kingbolts for the plank to rest on.

But the front sled only must be given free play to revolve. The double runner can be steered by the boy lying on the rear sled, but that is obviously a less satisfactory method than that of the boy lying on the front sled and steering by pushing on the front piece and steering with the right or left foot as the needs of steering come up.

The large sleds of a half century ago were great sights in the eastern cities.

The coasting of the coasters and gilded wagons in richness of design. "Ping" hats were worn by the men who were sledding in those days in these big craft. Stovepipes, beavers, hats, etc., were the most popular, but were not the best. Think of the small boy nowadays overlooking a chance to "soak" these ping hats with snow balls! But after all the research into the "lore of the sled" it strikes the enthusiast that Young America is about the same as he was "in vege old days."

ENTITLED

To Fee Only When Present and Assisting.

Court Ruling as to Fees of County Attorneys.

Frankfort, Ky., March 3.—In affirming a judgment of the Marion circuit court in the case of Ben Spalding against C. S. Hill the Appellate court today construed Section 133 of the Kentucky statutes, relating to fees of County Attorneys, to mean that the County Attorneys present and assisting in a prosecution at the time of rendition of judgment is entitled to the 25 per cent. allowed by the statute. The court, Judge Nunn writing, says that to hold to the contrary would bring about endless confusion and litigation, and all out-going county attorneys would claim and demand a part of the 25 per cent. on each judgment on prosecutions originated during their term of office to the extent of the labor and service rendered therein.

The question was raised in a petition filed by Spalding, former county attorney of Marion county, against Hill, who succeeded him in that office. Spalding claimed to be entitled to 25 per cent. of $1,200 collected in three judgments from the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company in cases instituted and prosecuted during his term of office as county attorney. The lower court decided against him and the decision is upheld.

JOHN P. BRAGG DEAD.

Another One of Pembroke's Best Citizens Passes Away.

Mr. John P. Bragg, a member of the firm of Smith & Bragg, merchants at Pembroke, died at an early hour Tuesday morning of blood poisoning.

He had been ill for several weeks and about two weeks ago one of his legs was amputated, in the hope that his life might be saved. He stood the operation well and showed some improvement thereafter, but on Sunday he became worse and continued to sink until relieved by death.

Mr. Bragg was a native of Virginia, having been born in Mecklenburg county in 1848, and served in the Confederate army during the Civil war. He moved to Kentucky three years after the close of the war and settled at Pembroke. He had been engaged in the mercantile business in that place for about 30 years and accumulated considerable property.

He was a most excellent citizen and had a wide circle of friends.

Mr. Bragg was a member of the Baptist church. Funeral services were held at his late residence Wednesday morning, conducted by Rev. A. R. Bond and the interment took place in Pembroke cemetery.

"THE CONVICT'S DAUGHTER."

This Powerful Melodrama to be Produced Here.

"The Convict's Daughter," a powerful melodrama and one that has caught the public fancy, will be produced with all its wealth of scenery, startling devices, electrical effects and superb acting company at Holland's Opera House, Tuesday night, March 10. Although only in its second season the play has been witnessed by larger audiences than any other melodrama written in previous years. It appeals to every class of theatre-goers, from the boy in the gallery to the mother of the family; to sweethearts and sisters and the father who loves his home. Yet, even with all its power of entertainment, the manager has not been satisfied to stop at that. He has furnished every little detail in regard to scenes and situations, properties and mechanical devices to make a perfect performance.

The first act opens at Col. Gould's Kentucky home, with its pretty home-like cottage, beautiful flowers and shade trees, and the air of perfect contentment. One commences to feel its sunshine and warmth from the very beginning, and the interest never flags from the first to the fifth and final act. You are carried from one scene to another with such excitement, and a great hope and desire that right shall succeed and wrong shall reap its just reward. A wonderful bond of sympathy has spread itself through the audience for the sweet innocent child of the convict and her down-trodden father. There is but one way to appreciate this truly great play—come and see it, and be convinced that "The Convict's Daughter" will always be remembered with pleasure.

Greeted by Big Audience.

Concerning the lecture of Rev. Sam Jones at Jacksonville, Ill., the Jacksonville Journal says: The famous Rev. Sam Jones, made first appearance before a Jacksonville audience last night at the Opera House, which was well filled in spite of the inclemency of the weather. The audience was in almost a constant uproar bought about by the peculiar humor and language which, according to Mr. Jones, might be said to have leaked out with every sentence, although at times was put aside for most eloquent language and serious thoughts. The applause was loud and frequent and without exception every one gave closest attention throughout, and one has to hear him speak to appreciate the effectiveness.

Rev. Jones will lecture at Holland's Opera House Wednesday night, March 25.
